On behalf of the 2022 Tony Cote First Nations Summer Games (TCSG) host James Smith Cree Nation and the 2022 TCSG Committee, it is our honour and privilege to welcome you to the City of Saskatoon and Whitecap Dakota First Nation for the duration of the Games. Fair play and honest competition build confidence and character, the young athletes deserve the best experiences possible. We know our youth have been truly affected by the pandemic and are looking forward to training for the games, at last.

In 1974, Chief Tony Cote, the council of Cote First Nation, and their membership initiated what was known as the Saskatchewan First Nation Games which has since been renamed to what you know today. The Federation of Sovereign Indigenous Nations has honoured this valuable legacy left for our youth.

James Smith Cree Nation believes that the importance of these games deserves our best efforts and it's time to raise the bar, recognizing and celebrating the successes and achievements of Saskatchewan's First Nation youth (our future leaders).

Through the process of developing the plans for sport & competition, we will balance the social & cultural ways of the people. The seven-day event will feature 7 sports categories at seven venues throughout Saskatoon and Whitecap Dakota First Nation including our Lance Run, Opening Ceremonies, and week-long entertainment and cultural teachings. Nations across Saskatchewan will compete in Athletics, Archery, Beach Volleyball, Canoe/Kayak, Golf, Soccer, and Softball.

The safety of our youth, elders, volunteers, and all those involved is our priority. The participation of teams will take place in the city in two waves over the six days of the competition. There will be many opportunities to engage in cultural and social activities outside of sports competitions and we encourage you to visit the Cultural Village and Dakota Gardens Stage.

James Smith Cree Nation is honoured to host our youth, elders, volunteers, and our spectators and strive to bring you the best experience at the 2022 Tony Cote First Nation Summer Games.

We wish our youth the very best in their competitions. Your commitment, strive, and enthusiasm will inspire your peers, our young, and those around you and create a standard of respect for sports.

Every Child Matters.

Okemow Chief Wally Burns
James Smith Cree Nation
